Valley beautification winners

A PROFUSION OF PLANTS helped James and Joan Miller of Canary Cottages win first place for outside landscaping in the Carmel Valley Chamber of Commerce Valley beautification contest. The Millers placed planters outside each of the units in their resort-motel and built a pool house adjacent to the pool with full landscaping. A wide variety of plants was used by the Millers, including a number of hanging planters placed strategically along walks on the grounds (story and more photographs on page 17).

ALL SAINTS SCHOOL director, Father Farmer embraces retiring teacher Georgie Hedrick. She will be leaving the school after nine years of teaching. Farmer noted that all of her years of teaching at All Saints were given after the retirement age of 65 and that the school was reticent to let her go, even at the age of 75. (photo by Ray Johnson)

All Saints' graduation held

Graduation exercises for the senior class of 1976 of All Saints' Episcopal Day School were held June 11 in the William R. Coast Memorial Hall.

Joseph Anthony Clark graduated Summa Cum Laude. Sean Reid Duffy and Lisa Monique Will graduated Cum Laude. A special award for growth and wisdom was presented to Kenneth Gene Green. Other graduates in the class were Steven Christopher Bush, Kerri Louise Flagg, Stevan Roy Horning, Richard Allan Shirley, Rune Andreas Tofte and Clifford Hartell Waddy.

A program of French songs was presented by the French classes. The recorder classes also gave a short program. After the presentation of diplomas by the chairman of the board of the school, communion was given.

Prior to the graduation party, Father Farmer, director of the school, honored retiring teacher Georgia Hedrick. He thanked her for her nine years of teaching at the school, pointing out that they were all given after the retirement age of 65, "an arbitrary age that society sets."

The audience of parents and students seemed overcome when Father Farmer embraced Georgia Hedrick, saying, "We are all going to miss you." The thank you from the audience was long applause and a standing ovation.

The ceremonies continued with a reception for the graduates and their friends and parents.

Drought effects severe, but may be short term

By DAVID COLE

It appears as though fall has come to Carmel Valley. The buckeyes are beginning to lose their leaves, the poison oak is turning fall colors, and the chaparral-strewn hillsides are changing to shades of winter grey.

Unfortunately, only July is upon the Valley and a long, dry summer still lies ahead.

But even though signs of the state's drought are everywhere, authorities expect no long-term effects from the water shortage, as long as next winter has average rainfall.

The California-American Water Company complains about immediate problems in supplying water to the Peninsula, but expects no serious water shortage this year as long as fall and winter rains arrive as usual.

CalAm is presently having difficulty keeping its Forest reservoirs have gone down.

But the San Clemente and Los Padres dams are still 90 to 95 percent full, according to the water company, and there should be enough water to get the Valley and the Peninsula through the rough summer months.

The pinch could come in December, if no fall rains come. Looking forward to the possibility of dry reservoirs late this year, CalAm is urging water conservation.

Of course, CalAm admits that the Valley is in front of the problem. There is no mechanical limitation on the amount of water that can be provided current populations here, and the Valley is at the headwaters of the Peninsula's water supply. Still, mandatory water rationing would apply to everyone served by CalAm.

Much of Carmel River is dry by this time of year normally, so the drought's effect on the water level is not terribly

Lake and Pacific Grove reservoirs full. Their 500-acre-foot capacity holding lakes are currently less than one-fifth full.

But the problem is actually a mechanical one. CalAm's pumping stations simply have not been able to pump fast enough to keep up with water use during the unusually hot late spring and early summer. While the recent heat wave had the Peninsula demanding 75 acre feet of water a day, CalAm can only physically pump 54 acre feet per day, so the evident until you get up above the Robles Bridge, where water during most years runs briskly all year round.

But the lowering water table is well illustrated by the number of well digging rigs along Carmel Valley road. Some of the rigs are digging new wells, since there is nothing CalAm's moratorium on hook-ups can do to stop lot developers from tapping the Valley's aquifer on their own, but many of the rigs are there to deepen old wells.

According to the water company, many wells on the Valley floor are no more than 20 feet deep and that is simply not deep enough this year. For instance, wells in Robinson Canyon are usually only about 18 feet deep, and the falling water level has left some high and dry.

The lack of winter rains and the lowering ground water level are definitely having their effects on the Valley's vegetation, but Ray Jackman of the California Division of Forestry expects no serious long-range effects, as long as the rains come as usual next winter.

Jackman admits that some trees, especially pines, will fall victim to the drought in the Valley, but they will primarily be trees which would have fallen in a few years anyway. The early signs of fall in the vegetation are just indicative of the way plants and trees protect themselves during times of little water.

In order to reduce the moisture lost through transpiration, trees such as buckeyes are losing their leaves a month or two early and will maintain their winter dormancy through the rest of the year.

This means slow growth this year for trees and shrubs, but not certain death. The chaparral along the hillsides, for instance, had little new growth this year, especially on the south-facing hillsides, and even on the north slope, chaparral is already beginning to grey, but will likely return next year.

But Jackman points out that all trees won't get off with merely retarded growth. Tree diseases — both root diseases and insect infestation — will be extremely prevalent this year.

Carmel city forester Greg D'Ambrosio explains that there are far more insects this year because the area didn't experience the usual spring cold. Those insects will, in turn, have comparatively easy pickings with the Valley's water-short and weakened trees.

For instance, ordinarily, the natural sap pressure in a tree will push insects out of the tree as they try to bore in. Because of the low level of water this year, that natural pressure has been reduced, according to Jackman.

The Valley oaks, Jackman says, are falling victim to a bark insect called a twig girdler, but the little ends of branches dying off as a result of this insect make the trees look in worse condition than they actually are. Actually, the insect is merely pruning the tree and will not, in most cases, kill it.

Jackman admits he is not sure exactly what is hitting the cottonwoods. Gary Tate of the park district expressed concern about the cottonwoods dying in Garland Ranch, and so a U.S. Forest Service pathologist came out to investigate, subsequently identifying a root disease. But what is not certain is whether the disease is the result of the drought.

As for trees in your own yard, Jackman advises a limited amount of deep-root watering. But, he stresses, do not water them often or they will fall victim to oak root fungus, which is not confined to oak trees, but can hit any woody plant.

Jackman says the Rhododendron at the division's Monterey office began falling victim to root fungus and so watering procedures had to be changed.

Root fungus can not live in dry soil, so if you water a tree slowly during the evening and then cease watering for three weeks afterward, the disease can be avoided.

"We'll be seeing a lot of dead trees this year," Jackman concludes, "because their vigor is down and the insect population is up. But the trees we lose will not be the best trees."

Fire danger high

Near drought conditions resulting in an extremely dangerous fire hazard have caused the Mid-Valley Fire Department to adopt a seven-point program of fire prevention, according to Chief Mike Ellsworth.

Ellsworth says, "As you know, the wildlands in and surrounding our district are already at a summer's end crisp, virtually a bonfire waiting for the match. Thus, we are implementing special procedures to minimize the possibilities of a major fire in our district, that extends from San Carlos Road eastward to Rancho Fiesta Road."

Ellsworth says his department is conducting home inspections in the Valley floor area. Signs warning of the critical fire area are being posted in Tierra Grande, Robinson Canyon and other areas. A "red alert" flag will be flown at the station during highly critical time periods.

All agriculture burning permits issued by the Mid-Valley department have been cancelled, says Ellsworth. In addition, critical areas will be patrolled every half hour from 1-6 p.m. during red flag alert periods. The department, says Ellsworth, is also building wooden boxes for quick and easy transport of wildland firefighting tools.

Bridge turns to brides

A tribute to June brides set the theme for the pink and white decor at the benefit bridge and canasta party sponsored by the social club of the Carmel Valley Community Chapel Guild. Hostess Marjorie McKiernon and co-hostess, Polly Black, used wedding bells and centered the dessert table with a pink and white "wedding cake".

Tahitian Bridal Veil plants, pink and white petunias and piggy back plants were awarded as prizes to Novella Nicholson, Alice Broberg, Kathryn Walker, Connie Riordan, Vera Bautz, Muriel Dawson, Polly Black, Gene Fairchild and Vera Stokes. The first and second places in bridge were won by Muriel Dawson and Gene Fairchild with Vera Stokes and Vera Bautz named high canasta winners.

Marjorie McKiernon and Alice Broberg will co-host the party planned for July 21 in Fellowship Hall. Residents are especially invited to bring their summer guests and to phone Nellie Mirani, 659-2454 for reservations.

Golden Horseshow Award

It has long been the tradition for this column to bestow an "old oak leaf cluster" on Valleyites whose performance was above and beyond. We feel that in addition, this weekend's contribution by Dr. John Von Berg, is deserving of a "Golden Horseshoe" since the Carmel Valley Kiwanis president spent the weekend constructing a hitching post and a redwood enclosure at the Community Center converting one of the "recovered bath tubs" into a horse trough. The Board of Directors appreciate these additions which will give a safe reserved space for the numerous horses ridden by both adults and youngsters to the center and to the pool.

Sherman wins

Winner of first place "Saddle or Hunt Seat, Maiden Rider, 17 and Under", Laura Sherman returned with another handsome trophy for her collection of equestrian awards following the 13th annual All Arabian Bicentennial Horse Show in Santa Barbara. Laura, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roger Sherman, was accompanied to the event by Mr. and Mrs. Roy Forzanni of Hidden Hills. Laura also was presented with several ribbons for other divisions of the show, sponsored by the Arabian Horse Association of the San Fernando Valley.

Tularcitos tennis

The well-worn question, "Tennis, anyone?" brought an enthusiastic response from 62 Tularcitos fourth and fifth graders who participated in a four-week Spring Tennis program at the courts on Via Contenta.

Eight new rackets were purchased by the Tularcitos Parents Club and volunteer instructors included Valerie Spaulding, Pat Middleton, Susan Thamer, Trulee Ricketts, Jan Litke, Naidra Colohan, Jane Buffington, Kay Sheckler and Barbara Blevens.

CVLL July 4th BBQ

Have you ordered your July 4th Barbecue tickets from your favorite Little Leaguer yet? There is still time to help a ball player win a special prize for selling the most tickets, and to assure yourself a holiday steak dinner with all the trimmings. Donations are $4.50 per adult and $2 for chlidren. Serving begins at the Paso Hondo picnic area at 11 a.m. and continues until 6 p.m. leaving plenty of time to get to the fireworks in town. Tickets will also be available at the ball park.

The Minor All Stars were selected over the weekend. Festivities on the Fourth will begin with their game at 9 a.m. Players selected will be divided into "Red" and "Blue" teams coached by Jack Garrett and Scott Foster.

All-Stars selected were:

WOLFPACK

David Awamleh, David Woodward, Guy Giruado, Sammy Salerno, Chris Bourquin, Jeff Bailey and David Avila.

TOROS

Rene Urban, Debbie Deitman, Danny Kelly, John Gibbons and Grant Misel.

CUBS

HORNETS

Michael Gill, David Kelly, Paul Bash and Leslie Glasknapp.

WOLVERINES

John Thompson, Amy Clark, Jeanine Harber, Sean Keator and Ricky McQuarry.

PIRATES

Jimi Friday and Paul Gaske.

Afternoon games will be played by Carmel-Carmel Valley first and second place major teams. It is a full day of fun at the CV Little League park on July the 4th.

Wolf Pack potluck

Highlight of the potluck dinner planned at the Community Center for players, families and coaches by team mother, Mrs. Monte (Sandy) Awamleh last week was the recitation of "The Miracle On Paso Hondo" composed and dedicated by Sandy to players and coaches of the farm team sponsored by Murphy's Lumber Yard.

It is Monday night at 5:45

And the Wolf Pack Team is ready to boogie & jive.
The Coaches are nervous and the parents are pale.
We bat last — hope we don't fail.
Wolf Pack versus Cubs and it was miraculous.
They batted their lineup and we held them scoreless.
Now it was our turn. We all look to see
The very first batter, David Awamleh.
Awamleh hits it to the sky,
Followed to the plate by a player named Guy.
Giraudo singles and waits and waits at First
For Jeff Bailey to hit — for better or worse.
"Woody" Woodward is next, he breaks the suspense
Up from the box comes good ol "Bourkie" who makes the pitcher look like a turkey.
The score is now five to zero.
Coming up, that ever-popular, "Sugar" Sam Salerno.
Sammy doubles without a doubt,
And then Kwon Lee swings, sending the ball FAR OUT!
Now for a change, up with the opposite sex,
Christine Vout continues the hex.
With Kwon and Christine hugging the bases,
"Pee Wee" Wise looks into scared faces.
Grinding his teeth, he swings and misses.
The next pitch is good — by the Short Stop it hisses.
Ten to noghint is the toll
When up comes the Avila's David and Joel.
With the brothers on Second and Third-ah
Batting next is Alex Cerda.
Soon Alex was running around the bags,
While Berndt Stolfi hits for the flags.
The runners are passing so fast and furious
The other team is getting curious.
The question heard through the park
Is, "Hu's on First?" (It's getting dark).
"Bring Jerry in" Scotty cries
And Greg grabs his bat and really tries.
With Dallas leading off and annoying the Coaches,
Eric Trudeau taps the plate like he's killing roaches.
Two more runs score and very soon,
Everyone looks for the other twin, Hoon.
With two strikes and three foul tips,
Hoon looks out with trembling lips.
Crack!!! Ball and bat connected.
Hoon scored, just as we expected.
The opposition's defense is really crumbling,
When from the dugout comes Kreuger, tripping and stumbling.
Flashing a grin, Danny chokes up on his bat,
Hitting the ball, it bounces off Lucido's hard hat.
"Alright!" shouts Big Mike, "Give him some applause!"
And finally to bat comes Mighty Anita Knauss.
The outfielders trembled, the infielders shook.

DEAD FISH are literally "for the birds" at the Carmel River Lagoon.

Fish dying in lagoon

Fish have been dying by the hundreds in Carmel River Lagoon lately, but the California Department of Fish and Game says there is little they can do about it.

The department performed a field test of lagoon water Monday but results have not yet come back from the lab. According to Paul Chappell in the fisheries department of Fish and Game, however, the fish are probably dying due to lack of oxygen in the falling lagoon waters.

Another possibility, Chappell says, is that salt water from Carmel Bay is beginning to seep through the sandbar because of the water level difference between the ocean and the lagoon.

What about the fish?

"There's no place we can put them," Chappell says. "All the streams along the central coast are drying up."

Lake temperatures are too high for Carmel River's steelhead trout, the main victims of the Peninsula's present drought. Chappell says, furthermore, that the small steelhead would also die if put in the ocean because they are not yet ready for that stage in their cycle.

Steelhead trout spawn in the freshwater of coastal rivers, and their offspring follow them back out to sea after maturing.

But the current steelhead die-off will not affect fishing in Carmel River for two to three years, according to Chappell, when this generation of trout would normally return to spawn.

Chappell says the dead fish in the lagoon will not be cleaned up by fish and game, but will be left to the gulls who, "do a lot better job than we do," he said.

Motorcycle race draws stars

The Yamaha factory teams from the USA and Canada will contest the $60,000 champion spark plug motorcycle classics at Laguna Seca Raceway on July 31-Aug. 1 with just a single motorcycle each.

American team rider, Kenny Roberts from Modesto, and the Canadian team's rider, Steve Baker of Bellingham, Wash., will use machines hand-built by the factory in Japan that have a power-to-weight ratio surpassing any Indy or Formula One GP car. Similar in layout to the water-cooled 750cc, four-cylinder racers offered for general sale by Yamaha, these "OW31" specials have their 120bhp engines squeezed into low, lightweight frames. And the use of much titanium and magnesium has carved the weight down to just 320 lbs.

The bikes were so much faster than the opposition at the Daytona 200 in March (where they were clocked at 190 mph) that they were the only machines in the race to suffer problems with excessive tire wear. The acceleration shredded the rubber from the rear tires of the bikes ridden by both Roberts and Japan's Hideo Kanaya while eventual winner, Johnny Cecotto, ignored pit signals and finished the race with his rear tire worn down to the threads.

The Baker-Roberts bikes are the only two in North America (only five riders in the world have them) and the champion spark plug classic will give West Coast fans their first glimpse of these racers.

Salinas rodeo set July 15

Tickets for the 1976 California Rodeo at Salinas are now on sale at major ticket outlets and box offices in Northern and Central California. The annual four-day Western Extravaganza will open July 15.

The California Rodeo is one of "Big Four" in the United States and Canada and is three shows in one. A display of horses and riders on the track, an unusual series of Western acts, and the arena events featuring professional cowboys from all over the United States and Canada.

Tickets are available at all Macy's and Emporium department stores and at major box offices in San Francisco, Oakland, San Jose, Santa Cruz, Monterey, Hollister, Watsonville, Monterey and Los Altos.

Most of the nation's top cowboys will be on hand for the '76 Salinas classic since for the first time in many years the dates do not conflict with Cheyenne Rodeo. As additional incentive to draw the top bronc-busting and steer wrestling talent, the purse has been upped to $21,630.00, the largest offered in the 66 years of California Rodeo.

"Big Week" in Salinas will also take on a new dimension with the first rodeo-use of the recently opened Community Center, adjacent to the Rodeo Grounds. A series of entertaining evenings including a blue grass band contest, an international variety show and a concert by the talented folk-rock stylist John Stewart will provide entertainment for the entire family.

Center grandstand tickets for each of the four days will be $5 and tickets for the North and South stands are $3 and $4. A dollar reduction for children under 12 is offered on all grandstand seats. A limited number of Arena seats at $7 are also available.

MEMBERS OF THE DANCE and Twirl Clubs of the Monterey Peninsula took top honors and three state Team Championships at the United States Twirling Association State Championships. The Monarchs' "Petites" won the California Juvenile Team Championships in both the dance and twirling categories. The Monarchs' "Contessas" won the Senior Large Championships in Twirling and placed third in the dance category. The Monarchs' "Whoopies" placed third in the Juvenile Dance. Members are left to right — Kim Kono, Wendy Seal, Cathy Whitney, Kim England and Sally Russell.

Community Center meeting

The Annual General Meeting of the Carmel Valley Community Youth Center was held last week with an election of new board members and officers for the coming year.

Reelected to the board were Mrs. Harvey Deal, Augie Acuna and Ed Foote. New board members include: David Stainbrook, Ray Lucido, Terry Stratton, Richard McKenzie, Tom Gladney and Dennis Powell.

Remaining board members completing the second year of a two year term are: Mrs. Mildred Hattan, Mrs. Nancy Hogans, Mrs. Peter Heckenlaible, Mrs. Richard Lee and Mrs. Richard McKenzie.

Elected to the executive board for the 1976-77 year were: Richard McKenzie, president; Augie Acuna, vice president; Mrs. Richard Lee, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Nancy Hogans, recording secretary; and Mrs. Harvey Deal, treasurer.

Preceding the meeting, retiring president, Mrs. Mildred Hattan introduced representatives from the Junior Cadette Girl Scout Troop who, on behalf of their sponsors, the Carmel Valley Women's Club, presented the center with state and national flags. Participating in the flag ceremony were: Ragan Conlan, Leah Conlan, Kerry O'Hara, Wendy Lambert and Susie Brandt. Accompanying the girls was their leader, Mrs. Richard King.

Many new residents may not be aware that the Carmel Valley Community Youth Center is a nonprofit organization — not a recipient of taxes, but funded entirely by donations and proceeds from center sponsored benefits.

During the past year, the center acquired a new roof, paint for interior, exterior, and bathrooms, new trees, a horse trough and a hitching post. Also new drapes and blackout curtains, tables and chairs. All were made possible by donated funds, materials and labor.

Last month the center received a check for $4,000 from the Bing Crosby Foundation which paid off the mortgage placed on the center in order to build the Community Swimming Pool.

During the year the center was used by youth groups from Tularcitos and Carmelo schools; Boy and Girl Scouts; Cubs and Brownies; 4-H Clubs; CV Little League; and Barracuda Swim and Diving Teams.

Activities sponsored during the year by the center included the Halloween Costume Parade and Carnival, the Santa Fly-In, Teen Dances, a Flea Market and participation in a Village Fiesta. The board continued to collect revenue from various projects including the sale of souvenier patches (a wild boar design and a Santa Fly-In patch), recycling aluminum and the coke machine.

The center continues to serve as a year round community gathering spot and summer headquarters for young and old alike at the swimming pool. Donations towards repairs, maintenance and programs are always needed, welcome — and tax deductible — just mail them to "CVCYC", Box 124, Carmel Valley, CA 93924.

Tigers potluck

The boys who have played together during the season of '76 wearing CVLL Tiger uniforms and their families held a barbecue recently at the CV Community Center.

Team mother, Veronica Lindsey, organized the team social assisted by husband, Ray, Sarah and Bill Farr, Cindy Marquard, the Doug Hudsons and the Kenny Helfers.

Bridge officers elected

The annual membership free game and board of directors election of the Monterey Unit of the American Contract Bridge League took place on Sunday at the Monterey Holiday Inn. J.D. Clinton was named president of the organization; Valleyite, Darlene Kraemer, vice president; Bill Putnam, secretary; Gerri McKenzie, treasurer; Susie Lyon, membership chairman; Florence Luckett, unit manager; and Martha Vail of Carmel Valley, party chairman. John Bell, retiring after five years as president of the group, was elected to publicity and special events chairman.

J.D. Clinton and Helen Edner paired to win the North-South competition on Sunday with Elsie and Ed Parsons winners of the East-West.

The next unit game is scheduled for 1:30 p.m., July 18 at the Holiday Inn. New people are welcome to attend with a second game free if they make a return visit.

Plans are also underway for the games on July 30 benefiting the Olympic fund. Play on that day will be nationwide with identical pre-duplicate hands coming from Memphis to be played by the public and judged by bridge experts. You are invited to share the fun while funding the Olympic cause.

Pool vandalized

"A cactus spine" to the group of Valley teenagers who selected Friday night to throw garbage and glass in the Carmel Valley Community Center Pool. It was necessary to turn away a record crowd of patrons on Saturday — one of the hottest days of the year — while the pool was cleaned and necessary repairs made on the filter system. After hours patrols by pool personnel and the Sheriff's department will continue for the remainder of the season.

Get well wishes

Best wishes to Robles Del Rio resident, Loring Warner who is a patient at Fort Ord Hospital, and to Mrs. Jennie Biggins who underwent surgery last Friday. Mrs. Biggins will be 90 in August.

It's a boy

Congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. Rodrigo Felix of Carmel Valley who welcomed a son who arrived May 31 at Community Hospital. The infant has been named Rodrigo Castro Felix.

'Fiddler' show cast

Casting has been completed for the forthcoming Monterey Peninsula College Players production of "Fiddler on the Roof" with the lead roles of Tevye and wife Golde going to Joe and Donna Garland. Their son Lee, who has had other parts in other MPC plays has the part of Motel.

"Fiddler" takes place in Russia in the years 1903-1905 and is the story of Tevye, a dairyman and his five daughters. The play is based on the tales of Sholem Aleichem, according to Fred Weiss, production director and a member of the original Broadway cast. "Fiddler" was the longest running musical in the history of Broadway," he added.

Popular songs include "Matchmaker," "If I Were a Rich Man," "Sunrise, Sunset," "Tradition," and "Miracle of Miracles." The run dates for the MPC production are July 29-31 and Aug. 4-7.

Other leading characters include Kirsten Hovick White as Tzeitel, Barbara Brussell as Hodel, Janice Marotta as Chava, Stephanie Cunningham as Shprintze, Ginger Street as Bielke, Edie Karas as Yente, Richard Boynton as Perchick, Sam Karas as Lazar Wolf, Doug Davis as Fyedka and Tom Sanchez as the Fiddler.

On the production side, Ralph Hassand will be the orchestra conductor, Barney Hulse is the vocal conductor and Julie Kim is the assistant choreographer.

JULIE AND FOYE will appear at the Hatchcover's fireside cocktail lounge for the last time this weekend if Julie Domac pursues her plans to join the disco group Foolish Pleasure.

Joe Regelski

Julie Domac fans: please note. This weekend is the last time you'll be able to catch Julie with her folk and blues set on a regular basis. Julie has decided to join the disco group Foolish Pleasure that plays regularly on a Wednesday through Sunday basis at Your Father's Mustache in Aptos.

Ms. Domac has gained many a musical admirer with her recent work at the Hatchcover in the Carmel Rancho Shopping Center because of her unique blend of acoustic and electric keyboard work along with a fine voice that many nationally prominent folk artists would love to have.

I've said it twice in this column and I'll make the claim once again. Julie Domac is the most talented performer that I have seen on the Monterey Peninsula in the past year. Her interpretive work is a vocal masterpiece. Every song she takes on becomes her own. If you have not yet caught Julie, you owe it to yourself to head over to the Hatchcover this weekend.

I'll definitely be there for her final performance on Saturday eve.

Ironically, Julie's farewell performance will be followed by the last regularly scheduled gig of Langford and Zobler.

L&Z, as reported three weeks ago in this column, have decided to concentrate on their writing and recording. It appears that the Hatchcover is gaining a reputation for providing the best atmosphere for local folk acts. Hatchcover manager Randy Smith will have a job on his hands finding followup acts to Julie and Bob and Jon.

As promised last week, here's the lineup for that July 11 outdoor concert at the Monterey Fairgrounds.

In addition to local groups Jasmine T and California, Pebble Beach promoter Michael Olivetti has signed the following music pros: saxophonists Jerry Martin, Dave Marcels and bassist Jack Blades. They were members of Sly and the Family Stone which recently disbanded. Other members of the headlining unit include guitarist Mike Sasaki and trumpeter Max Hasket of Cold Blood; Santana drummer Angel Orazo and keyboard session man Steve Carter.

The show, billed as Monterey Day On The Green, will be from noon to 6 on July 11 with advanced tickets set at $3.50 and available at Odyssey Records and Carmel Music Shop as well as other music stores throughout the area.

3-D porno flicks?? What will they think of next? Well, folks, "The Stewardesses" has done so well at the 812 Cinema that July 2 will mark the opening of "Love-In 3-D" direct from Europe and filmed in 70mm which I'm told has made for a technically better piece of work than the ever-popular "Stewardesses".

Speaking of 3-D, the Dream Theatre will feature a double bill 3-D show starting July 14 when "Inferno" with Rhonda Fleming and Robert Ryan is shown with "Gorilla At Large" featuring Anne Bancroft, Lee Marvin and Raymond Burr: I wonder what it would cost to remake those films today with the same casts?

One further note from the Dream — the original "House of Wax" with Vincent Price and all its 3-D effects should be back in print in about 30 days and the Dream hopes to be one of the first theatres in the country to run it.

Cannery Row Dinner Theatre assistant director Alan Robb has received strange recognition by recent crowds there to see "110 In The Shade". Robb has been applauded twice by exiting crowds while cleaning up the "rainstorm" which ends each performance.... Harold Melvin and the Blue Notes recently jammed at the Sunday jazz session at the Barrelhouse in Monterey... Pianist Serena Underwood recently sat in with Debby Joyce at the Holiday Inn, Monterey while Manny Duran was out of town. "It was really a gas to get into a jazz trio thing with Paul and Ray Drummond for that evening", reports Serena. You can catch Serena at the piano bar at Highway Robbery in the Carmel Center on Tuesday and Wednesday evenings starting at 8 p.m.

Morrows entertain

Hospitality extended by the Morrows on Merrill Way is superior according to recent guests welcomed by Beth and Ralph. Recently signing their guest book was Kathy Klingensmith, daughter of former residents, Flo and Dick Klingensmith. Kathy had recently graduated from Highland Park High School in Dallas, Texas, and was here to fulfill a promise made to former Carmel High classmates to take the Senior Disneyland Trip with them.

While Kathy headquartered at Morrows, she was entertained by Mr. and Mrs. Jim Cecka, Mrs. Philip Walker and Mr. and Mrs. Bill Whiteman. Highlight of her visit was a personal introduction to Mrs. Gerald Ford when she attended the Merienda with her close friend, Holly Hudson, who served as La Favorita.

After a visit with family and friends in the Bay area, Kathy flew to Colorado to make plans for entering college in the fall.

Other guests included longtime former Aliso Road residents, Ora and Lloyd Todd enroute from their home in Indio to Oregon to fish; Ralph's sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Max Myers who came from their home in Piqua, Ohio to celebrate their golden wedding anniversary; and Ralph's cousins, Mr. and Mrs. Roscoe Penrod of Delano.

NUTTY NEEDLE NOOK

Newly arrived from its previous Carmel location, Nutty Needle Nook brings its outstanding collection of needle-craft materials to the valley. Open since June 6 and located in the Carmel Valley Village Shopping Center next to La Boutique Nutty Needle Nook carries hand painted canvases as well as machine stamped and blank canvas for needlepoint along with many needlepoint patterns. But that's not where it stops, there are all kinds of knitting crewel and embroidery supplies too.

Patterns and stitches vary from beginners to the most advanced and Alison Conway, manager, is always glad to give instruction and advice on anyone's project.

"Needlework is very self satisfying," says Alison, "everyone has a need to create and any one of our needlecrafts is easily learned, can be worked on at any pace and can fit any budget. The completed product is artistic, useful and very individualized. In short very satisfying."

Alison also gives free lessons in any of the crafts. Nutty Needle Nook is open 10-5 and closed Sunday and Monday. Stop in and look around.

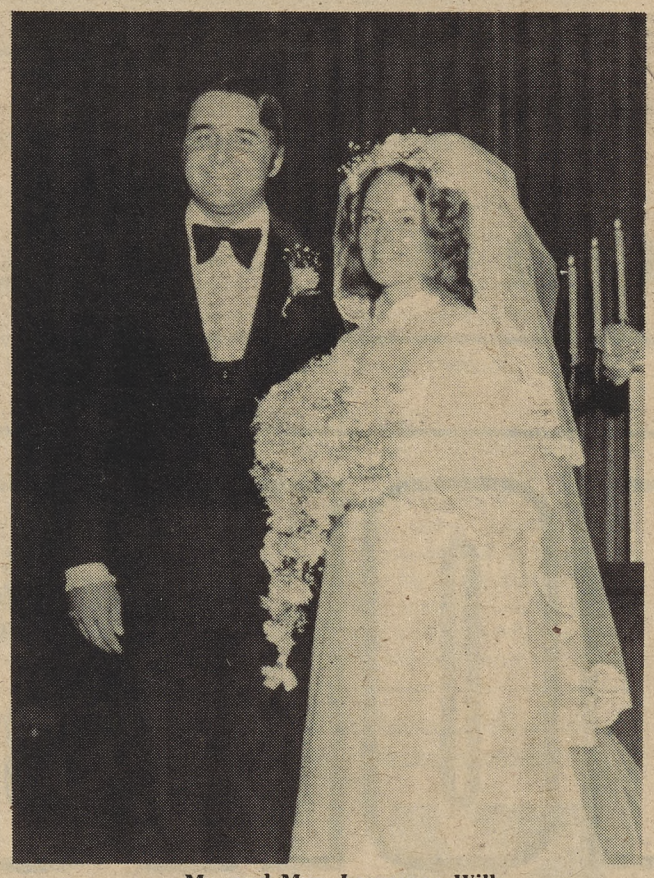
CARMEL VALLEY APPLIANCE REPAIR

Service — Service — Service! That's Ed Mosier's motto at Carmel Valley Appliance Repair. The opening of this new business in the Talbot building in the village brings prompt and less expensive appliance repair and service to this area. Because of his location, Ed's service calls are less costly than those of a Carmel or Monterey located business.

Originally a San Fernando Valley resident, Ed grew up in a small town and enjoys returning to a small town atmosphere. He delights in being able to reach a customer within twenty minutes as opposed to the 20-30 mile service calls he used to make in San Fernando Valley. He also prizes a small town's ability to advertise by word of mouth. A customer's referral is to be sought after, says Ed.

By his own count, Carmel Valley Appliance carries five times as many parts as most repair shops around and this allows Ed to fix most appliances with one service call or only require the appliance in his shop for a day or two without having to order parts.

Pride in his work and a love of the valley and its people make Ed Mosier's Carmel Valley Appliance a sure success and a much needed new business to the area.



Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Wills.

Miller-Wills wed

The First Presbyterian Church of Monterey was the setting for the afternoon wedding of Janet Sue Miller and Lawrence Edward Wills, both of San Jose.

The bride is the daughter of Colonel and Mrs. James K. Miller of Carmel Valley. The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry G. Wills of Napa, CA.

Rev. Wayne Adams of the Cypress Community Church conducted the services. A reception was held at the First Presbyterian Church following the ceremony.

The bride wore a dress of white satin organza with full lace-lined bishop sleeves and a cathedral train. It was adorned with pearled lace and white rose appliques. She carried a bouquet of pink rose buds and starburst, outlined with white lace. The fresh flowers in her veiled headdress matched her bouquet.

The groom wore a dark brown tuxedo with a beige ruffled shirt.

Honor attendant to the bride was her sister Mrs. Stephen E. Johnson of San Jose. Other attendants were Trish Hoffman of Monterey; and Gayl Boardman and Debbie Hurtig, both of San Jose. The flower girl was Julie Krc of Los Angeles.

Best man to the groom was his brother-in-law Stephen E. Johnson of San Jose. Serving as ushers were James K. Miller, brother of the bride, James Garaventa of San Francisco; Otto Pauls of Del Rey Oaks; and Gregor Strohm of San Jose. Michael Areosa of San Leandro served as ring bearer.

The bride is a graduate of San Jose State University and works in a bank in San Jose.

The groom is also a graduate of San Jose State University and is employed with a real estate appraiser firm in San Jose.

After a honeymoon in Hawaii, the couple will be at home in San Jose.

Shopping center plans promotion

"A Birthday Party for the Community" will be held Thursday, Friday, and Saturday, July 1, 2 and 3, at the Carmel Rancho Shopping Center, Highway 1 and Carmel Valley Road, Carmel, according to William R. Moore, president of the Merchants Association

Free gifts (1,976), coupon drawings and refreshments highlight the event, which will culminate on Saturday, with festivities starting at 10 a.m. on the West Mall and 11 a.m. on the East Mall.

Uncle Sam, assisted by Moore, owner of the Carmel Rancho Pharmacy, and Lee Coelho, manager of the Carmel Rancho Monte Mart, will cut and serve two birthday cakes, one on each side of the complex. Helium-filled balloons will be given away on the malls, with other gifts being offered at stores throughout the Center, from 9 a.m. on.

The "Bicentennial Birthday Party" is marked by several special events and premiere openings.

Bob McGinnis Travel, in new quarters in the Professional Building, Carmel Rancho East, has increased its space to 1,886 sq. ft., now housing the Remco Tour Division of Bob McGinnis Travel as well as the parent firm. Remco sponsors senior citizen tours.

Mary Lou McKenzie is president and Margaret Zabrycki, secretary-treasurer, of the 10-year-old firm. In its new quarters, the company will feature rotating art shows, the first of which is a collection of montages by William Stone of Carmel, which will run through mid-July.

Valley Auto Supply & Cyclery will hold its official opening in Carmel Rancho West with a "Mini-Birthday Party" in its facility all day Saturday, with refreshments and a variety of free gifts for visitors.

The first such facility in the Carmel-Carmel Valley area, Valley carries a complete line of auto parts and accessories, as well as a bicycle department. Also to be added in the near future is a car care center and an auto stereo display center.

O.W. Elder, Ulabel Elder, and John Elder make up the staff of the new firm, with Mike Williams, formerly with Siebert's (in the same location) remaining with the organization.

House of George Hair House will present its new features within its present facility in Carmel Rancho West — His and Her Custom Fashions by Maloa and Collectors' Items, with Oriental antiques and other art objects.

United California Bank and First Federal Savings and Loan will offer coffee, doughnuts, and cookies all day Friday.

A limited number of free gifts will be given away Thursday and Friday, with the majority scheduled for Saturday, the final day of the event, Moore announced.

Holiday events scheduled

by IRENE GAASCH

The Fourth of July weekend promises a myriad of activities with parades, picnics and ball games as some of the events.

Leading the marching units in Seaside's 28th Annual Independence Day Parade and Celebration on July 3 will be the "Spirit of 76" drum and fife corps from the Monterey Peninsula Musicians Union, along with the Colonial dressed color guard and band of the 7th Division from Fort Ord.

Starting off the festivities will be a pre-parade of all mounted units at 10:30 a.m. The main parade, which has over 200 entrees, will begin at 11 a.m. The parade route goes north on Fremont to Broadway, then west on Broadway to Del Monte Avenue.

Following the parade, a barbecue and other concessions will be held in Heitzinger Plaza. In addition to the awarding of the parade prizes, there will be a musical presentation with 200 years of music, 1776 to the present. Many of the top entertainers of the Monterey Peninsula will perform with headliners Barbara Kelly, Scotty Wright, Debbie Joyce, Buba Johnson, Lula Roberson, Alarice Thomas and a band led by Jake Stock.

The city of Monterey will hold a two-day celebration Saturday and Sunday, July 3 and 4, in the Custom House Plaza and Memory Garden, Monterey.

The Monterey American Bicentennial Committee planned the celebration with local branches of the Jaycees and the Kiwanis Clubs and the Monterey City Employees Association.

Concession booths, manned by these and other civic clubs, will be open from 10 a.m. each day. Booths will feature a wide variety of ethnic foods including Italian, Greek, German Filipino, Mexican and Hungarian.

Each day at 11 a.m. there will be special flag raising ceremonies. There will be continuous entertainment from 10 a.m. until 5 p.m. with new performers every hour.

Among the entertainers will be the Watsonville Penny Band, magician Gary Frank, the International Drum Corps, Filipino dancers, the 4-H Drill Team from Carmel Valley, gymnastics and the Joe Ingram Dixieland Band.

Sunday events include a pancake breakfast served by Kiwanis Club members in Memory Garden. The breakfast starts at 8:30 a.m. and the cost is $2 per person.

At noon, Mrs. Peter Coniglio, wife of the Monterey mayor, will cut the half-ton birthday cake donated by the city employes association while the Dixie Land Band plays the Star Spangled Banner. Visitors are welcome to share the cake which is expected to serve about 3,000 people.

Carmel Valley will start the day with a 9:30 a.m. All-star Carmel Valley minor league game at the Little League Park. A barbecue dinner will be served from 11 a.m. until 6 p.m. Tickets are $4.50 per adult and $2 for children. The menu includes steak, salad, beans, corn and watermelon plus bread and drinks. Games will continue all afternoon with a play-off between the minor league of Carmel and Carmel Valley and first and second place major league teams. The minor league play-off is scheduled for 12:30 p.m. and major league play is scheduled for 3:30 p.m.

Valley, Mel Patterson of Carmel and Claude Gilroy of Monterey, will march in the Seaside Independence Day parade.

The winners of the Carmel Valley Chamber of Commerce Valley Beautification Contest were announced last Friday, June 25 at the Chamber's barbeque.

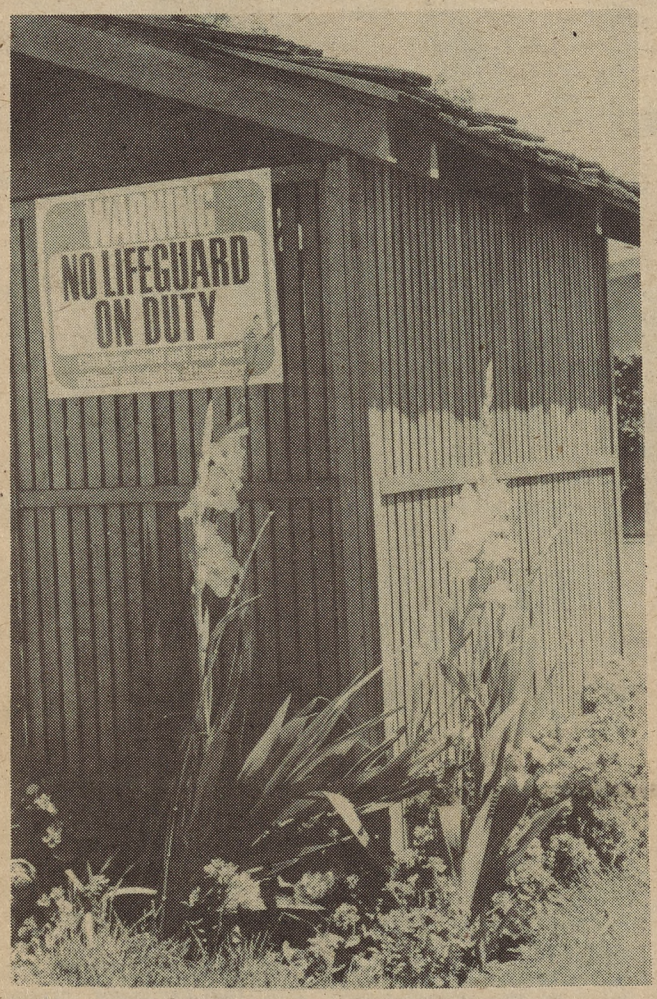
James and Joan Miller of Canary Cottages took first place in the Outside Landscaping category. John Tobias of Village Liquors won the Vacant Lot Clean Up for the lot adjacent to his business and Dulcie's Valley Take Out, owned by Bill and Dulcie Browder, won first place for Interior Improvements. There were no entries for the Structural Exterior Improvement category.

Honorable mention was given to Shelly's Kitchen for Interior Improvement, Oaks Deli and Sierra Instruments for Outside Landscaping and to Mrs. D. Taylor who did not enter the contest but recently paid to have the two vacant lots on either side of the old Swan building cleaned up.

Each of the winners received a collector's decanter from the Wild Turkey series which were donated by the Carmel Valley Market.

Judges for the contest were Ron Hunter, Randy Randazzo and Kit Kurtz.

About 40-50 people attended the barbecue which was held at Hidden Valley Music Seminar. With the exception of the steaks, everything was donated by valley merchants, with Bill Browder doing most of the organizing. Jack George and Mr. Mohr manned the barbecue turning out some beautiful steaks. Jeannelle Kiminski and Ron Hunter also played a big part in making the berbecue a pleasant affair. Chamber president Lee Mink doubled as bartender and master of ceremonies and Joe Ricupero provided extemporaneous entertainment. The Chamber announced its plan to hold the Beautification Contest each year, and all who participated in both the contest and the barbecue were sincerely thanked.



THIS POOL house was built and landscaped for the contest.

A VARIETY of flowers was used to decorate the grounds.

HANGING PLANTS are in evidence throughout the grounds of the Canary Cottages.

PLANTERS WERE placed around each of the units.

by lucy smithson

If you've been paying attention to the media you know that 1976 is America's Bicentennial year. If you've been paying attention to "Feedbag"... hello? hello out there!... you know that many if not most of the special celebrations planned for this year feature horses. As is only fitting and proper. After all, horses built America — aided a little by horsemen and women.

Some elaborate presentations in honor of our country's 200th birthday emphasize the importance of the horse in our history. Starting last year covered wagons from each state headed for Valley Forge, Pennsylvania for a Fourth of July celebration there. The world's longest horse race started in New York on Memorial Day. By now the transcontinental racers are deep in the heart of America on their way to a September finish in Sacramento. Pony Express runs have been reenacted all over the West including a great many communities which were not served by the original Pony Express. The De Anza Trek reenacted the opening of overland routes to California and the arrival of colonists here.

This weekend, the Fourth of July weekend of 1976, has to be the very kernel, the keystone, of the Bicentennial Year. Right here in Monterey will be another super example of the horse's place in our history. It is the American Heritage Carriage Class to be held Saturday evening as part of the three day Golden West Regional Championship Morgan Horse Show.

The Morgan Horse, of course, is one of the foundation bases on which the infant nation constructed itself. From a single prepotent stallion in eighteenth century Vermont came hundreds and thousands of horses to plow the farms, carry the mail, pull the carriages, fight with the cavalry, build the roads, and round up cattle.

If that weren't enough, Morgan stallions and mares contributed their superior qualities to every other American breed of horses: Saddlebreds, Standardbreds, Tennessee Walkers, Quarter Horses, Palominos, Paints... you name it, it's part Morgan. The only purebreds in this country that are not part Morgan are those breeds which were established in some other country and imported here complete with their own stud book. For example, Arabs, Thoroughbreds (from England and Europe), Percherons (from France), and uh, well we're hard put to think of many foreign breeds that have had much to do in American history. Most of the American horses have been our own, which means most of the American horses have been Morgans or part Morgan.

Morgan horseowners are cognizant of their grand traditions. Antique carriages have always found buyers among Morgan fanciers. Restoring or reproducing authentic harness or costumes is the side-hobby of many Morgan Horse fanciers. Now, for the Bicentennial, they're going to pull out all stops and TROT OUT THE BEST.

Carriages or conveyances for the American Heritage Carriage Class are genuine antiques or authentic reproductions demonstrating the elegance of Early American History and the carriage mode of travel or sporting event. Authentic costumes, appropriate harness and suitability of horse or horses to the type of carriage is essential.

Sometimes a single horse would draw a carriage; sometimes a pair of horses were used. Big rigs used a four-in-hand. Pairs of horses were usually hitched side by side but occasionally they would be hitched tandem fashion... one in front, one behind. This was considered very showy as it took a heckuva good driver to control the front horse or, failing that, to prevent the rear horse from imitating whatever mischief the front horse got into.

At least one of the contestants in the American Heritage Carriage Class, Mrs. Jack (Evelyn) Harrod of Morgan Hill, will be driving a pair of horses in tandem. Prizes for pairs or four-in-hands will be separate from prizes for single horses. If more than one pair, unicorn or four-in-hand is entered, these shall be asked to leave the arena before the singles are put on the rail. Judging will concentrate on driving, proper appointments, and the horses' way of going, as in any driving class. Each entrant provides the announces with a written description of his equipage so that spectators can thoroughly enjoy what they are seeing.

The American Heritage Carriage Class is only one of the many worthwhile classes in the Golden West Morgan Horse Show for whom the Fourth of July weekend at Monterey County Fairgrounds is a permanent show date. Action actually begins on Thursday with a judging contest for junior members of the American Morgan Horse Association which is also open to any FFA or 4-H member in good standing.

Friday sees open Trail Horses enter the ring at 8 a.m. After a morning of assorted breeding and performance classes the show resumes at 1 p.m. with open jumpers. The evening performance begins at 7 p.m. with Ladies Park Harness class. Saturday follows a similar 8 a.m., 1 p.m., 7 p.m. schedule with such classes as Western Pleasure, Roadster under saddle, and pleasure driving On Sunday the champion mare and champion stallion will be determined as well as stake classes in several other categories. Local residents, Phyllis Shopbell, Dale Haas, and Alan Lassiter will show their horses. Dale Haas owns and operates a Morgan Horse "agency" in Carmel Valley Village for "sales and service" of Morgan Horses.

It only costs a dollar to get into the show — kids under 12 free — which makes it cheaper than the Monterey Fair Horse Show and others. Get on over there and take a look at Morgans in action. It's history on the hoof!

School board OKs salary hikes

The school district and employe groups agreed to a 5.1 percent salary increase for next year with an additional one percent dependent on availability of state funds.

In a special meeting held June 23, the school board ratified the salary package. In addition to the percentage increase, the agreement includes absorption of the increased costs of fringe benefits which the district estimates as equivalent to one percent of salaries.

If unrestricted state funds are made available the district has agreed to add one percent to the salary increase. But, the district says no local tax funds would be used to fund this portion of the increase. The pay for sports coaches and other extra duty categories will increase by three percent. Substitute teachers will receive a 5.1 percent increase.

Both the certificated and classified employes' groups had asked for increases of 12-13 percent.

Administrators received the same general salary increase since, according to board president Richard Wilsdon, their increase has traditionally been tied to staff increases.

In other action the board elected Wilsdon as its delegate to the California School Boards Association convention. The board's next meeting is set for July 14.

CVPOA picnic set

A concert by Fort Ord's Seventh Infantry Division Band will highlight the quarterly membership meeting and picnic of the Carmel Valley Property Owners Association on Monday, July 5, at Garland Ranch Regional Park.

To celebrate the Bicentennial CVPOA members and friends are invited to bring picnic baskets, something to sit on, and incidental recreation equipment to an old-fashioned family picnic from noon to 4 p.m. There is no admission charge either to the grounds or the picnic.

The 45-member Fort Ord Band will present a concert of popular and patriotic music beginning at 1 p.m.

Children's activities will include the traditional sack races and three-legged races for nominal prizes, pony rides and a nature hike.

Picnickers will bring their own cold lunches. No fires are allowed at the park. Hot coffee will be available and beer and wine may be purchased.

Other equipment suggested for the day includes frisbees, kites, balls and bats, volleyballs, guitars and other musical instruments, cameras and sun tan lotion. Horse owners may bring along their horses for an after-picnic trail ride.
